"THE BULL TOSSER"

Universal Two-Reel Western

Featuring PETE MORRISON

HANK HAWKINS has that distressing (to others) habit of painfully distorting the truth. He tells the boys on the ranch of his many heroic deeds and of his unmatched riding ability. Mazie Scott is his boss' daughter and Hank likes her right well. But Mazie overhears his tales and, strange as it may seem, is a bit skeptical as to their veracity. She decides to put him to the test, and when her father takes "Nitro Glycerine," an untamed filly for a bad debt, she suggests that Hank be given the job of breaking him. Hank fails miserably and from then on life is not worth living for him.

Finally the circuit rider visits the ranch and Mazie takes him out for a picnic. She makes Hank drive the carriage and team and then refuses to give him any lunch. But Hank shows his mettle when Denver Dan, the terror of the county, kidnaps her right from the side of the circuit rider. Hank unhitches one of the team and riding him bareback overtakes the desperado and rescues his loved one.
